WHO DECIDES WITH YOU?

HR

A BENEFIT YOUR TEAM NOTICES IN EVERY SHIFT.

You are responsible for HR and see the strain especially in housekeeping, kitchen and service. You are looking for a benefit that is concrete and arrives where the shift happens. A pilot with 10 employees shows you whether your team wears and values the insole. The effort for your HR team has not been determined yet.

WHAT YOU NEED TO BE ABLE TO REPRESENT IN THE MEETING

THE ROLE'S QUESTION	How do I strengthen retention and appreciation without extra effort? In the decision team, you make the need visible. Your goal is to keep good employees and show the operating teams that their daily strain is seen.
CORE MESSAGE	"A BENEFIT YOUR TEAM NOTICES IN EVERY SHIFT."
HOW THIS PAGE SEES IT	Start with a clearly limited pilot group, record comfort and acceptance, and then decide on expansion. Today there are usually general benefits, informal one-off solutions or no targeted measure for operating teams. Such projects are held back by low uptake, an unfair impression between teams and extra coordination effort. The pilot fits when feedback keeps coming from the shifts, staffing is difficult, employees leave early or an initiative for workplace health is coming up.
THE PILOT COUNTS AS A SUCCESS IF	participation is free of pressure, feedback on comfort is mostly positive, and shift leads report no additional coordination effort.
WHAT IT TAKES BEFORE APPROVAL	Pilot process, how participants are approached, data protection, individual assignment and a simple logic for feedback.
